

BOX FILE
22-8-74

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

IN COLLABORATION WITH THE CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

A Study Course
SESSION
1967-68

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

This year's course is designed with three objectives in view: (i) it will attempt to deal in four short series of lectures with some of the larger issues in international affairs with which Canada has a continuing concern. (As preparation for each of these major topics, registered members of the course will be provided with four background papers); (ii) it will make provision on certain dates for a discussion of issues of immediate headline interest. (The topic of the "Behind the Headlines" series will be announced one week ahead of the scheduled lecture date); and (iii) it will include in the programme three special overseas guest speakers who will be in Toronto during the period of this course.

Time: Tuesdays, 8 p.m., beginning October 3

Place: Cody Hall, School of Nursing, 50 St. George Street (Russell Street entrance)

Fee: $35.00
Total fee for a married couple $60.00

FIRST TERM

CANADA AND FRANCE

In this segment, consideration will be given to the background and implications of recent developments in Canada's relations with France, including the special interests of Quebec, and the significance of bilingualism and biculturalism in Canada's foreign policy.

October 3
Hugh Thorburn
Professor Hugh Thorburn
Department of Political Science
Queen's University

October 10
André Dufour
Professor André Dufour
Faculty of Law
Laval University

October 17
Lecturer to be Announced

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

A lecture on an international issue in the news.

October 24
Lecturer to be Announced

FEDERALISM AND BILINGUALISM AND BICULTURALISM IN THE CAMEROON

October 31
Dr. Bernard Fonlon
Deputy Foreign Minister of Cameroon

KEEPING THE PEACE

Canada's rôle in and attitude towards peacekeeping, the problems of nuclear proliferation and disarmament, the positions of East and West on these topics, and the future of Canadian defence policy as it relates to NATO, NORAD, and the anti-ballistic missile issue, will form the component parts of this series.

November 7
Lt. Colonel R. B. Tackaberry
Formerly Head of Land Operations,
Canadian Forces Headquarters, Ottawa

November 14
John Gellner
Defence Expert and
Editor of The Commentator

November 21
Professor Franklyn Griffiths
Department of Political Economy
University of Toronto

November 28
Lecturer to be Announced

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

December 5
Lecturer to be Announced

SECOND TERM

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

January 9
Lecturer to be Announced

APARTHEID FDR SALE

January 16
Professor Peter B. Harris
Professor of Government in the University of Rhodesia

THE ISSUE THAT WILL NOT DIE

Current thinking on major aspects of Canada-United States relations, the international implications of being the neighbour of a super-power, and the present consequences for Canada of changing economic relationships between North America and Western Europe, will occupy this part of the course.

January 23
James M. Minifie
CBC Washington Correspondent

January 30
David Baldwin
Professor David Baldwin
Assistant Director of Public Affairs Centre
Dartmouth College, New Hampshire

February 6
Roy A. Matthews
Economist, Private Planning Association of Canada

CANADA AND INTERNATIONAL AID

February 13
Lewis Perinbam
Director of Development Services,
the World Bank

February 20
Dr. Keith Spicer
Department of Political Economy,
University of Toronto

February 27
Mr. Earl Drake
Acting Director of Planning and Policy Division
External Aid Office, Ottawa

March 5
Lecturer to be Announced

March 12
Panel discussion on recurring themes of the course

REGISTRATION FORM

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

SESSION 1967 - 6B

University of Toronto, University Extension
84 Queen's Park, Toronto 5, Ontario

Please find enclosed my remittance of $35.00 (cheque payable to the University of Toronto)

NAME.....

ADDRESS.....

TELEPHONE: BUSINESS.....

HOME.....

FIRM NAME (If applicable).....

FOR OFFICE USE ONLY
Card Number.....
Chief Accountant.....